

What does PE look like at Archbishop Hutton's?

Our PE curriculum contributes to healthy and active lifestyles; improves emotional well being and improves behaviour. We develop and embed across the whole school key skills such as leadership, confidence, social and team building skills. Children enjoy PE and value the part it plays in their lives of keeping them healthy. PE is taught for over 2 hours per week across the school. We develop a key skill and progress this across the whole school. Children are actively asked to analyse and evaluate their own and peers skills.

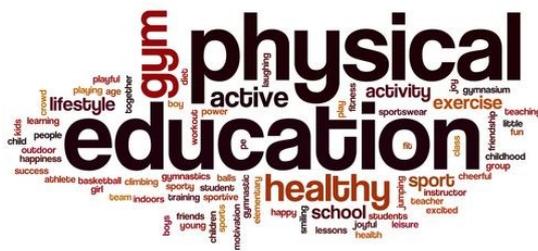

As well as class teacher led sessions we make use of an experienced sports coach, who works weekly with every child across the school.

Why is PE an important part of our curriculum?

All children should have access to a high quality PE curriculum. This should be an integral part of the time in school. We recognise the benefits high quality PE provision and school sport can give to all children.

In encouraging children to be active and by supporting them in their understanding of how to participate safely and effectively, our PE curriculum is varied and inclusive. We ensure all pupils have the ability to access a range of activities on offer and they are physical active for sustained period of time.

Team activities within school, and against other schools are frequent and encourage the children the importance of team work. They also learn how it feels to win and lose, and how to respond appropriately in either situation.

What do our children think about PE at Archbishop Hutton's?

"We get to do all kinds of different sports and activities like outdoor adventure, swimming galas, football tournaments and handball competitions."

"I like to see how many different sports everyone does outside of school when they bring in their trophies, medals and certificates in our weekly celebration assemblies."

"I was so inspired to be the best I can be when a Paralympic fencer and cyclist came in to our school. He said work hard; give 100% and say yes to every opportunity."

What is our vision for PE at Archbishop Hutton's?

Sport and physical activity on a regular basis is integral to our school vision, allowing our children to become more physically confident and competent.

Every child who leaves our school in Year Six has had the opportunity to take part in a wide variety of activities.

Competing in a variety of competitions during school time and representing the school at local events, means children develop as citizens outside of the classroom situation. Weekly work with a sports coach encourages team work, greater confidence and sportsmanship. Visits to outdoor centres, allow children access to climbing, paddling canoes and learning archery—developing an understanding that sport comes in different guises. We encourage a love and passion for sport and a recognition of the importance of a fit and active future as adults.
